RED CROSS

DRIVE PROGRESSES.

Irasburg First Reported "Over the Top." Prospects That Every Branch Will Exceed Quota.

Reports from Red Cross chairmen in the towns of the county indicate that the $8,000 quota for Orleans county will be exceeded and there is a prospect that every apportionment to branches will be exceeded. Irasburg appears to be the banner town, having gone over its quota of $375 by more than $260, the total being more than $635. East and South Albany was the second place to report the canvass completed and the quota exceeded. While $150 was the mark set, returns are not all in and $165 is raised.

Newport pledges its quota from its war chest. Favorable reports are received from those in charge of the work in Glover, in the Missisquoi valley, Barton and Westmore. Other places plan organization and the canvass later in the week. Certainly Orleans county will make a record of which it will be proud. But don't feel that the duty is done. Everyone must have an opportunity to do for the great work of the Red Cross.

School Service Flag Presented.

A very pretty and impressive exercise took place on the school campus Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. J. F. Batchelder informally presented the school with a service flag in honor of members of the Alumni, who are in the service. The flag contains 15 stars but more are to be added at once.

At 2 o'clock the scholars marched to positions on either side of the walk where they stood at attention. The service flag was borne to the flag staff by six children, sons and daughters of members of the association, Rosalind Buswell, Rachel Page, Ruth Erwin, Paul Baldwin, Roldaus Richmond and Howard Cook.

Mr. Bates and Mr. Mudgett received the flag and drew it up on the staff under the Stars and Stripes. After a few words of explanation, Mrs. Batchelder read a poem, "The Service Flag," followed by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the schools. The formal presentation and acceptance of the flag will form a part of the post-prandial exercises of the Alumni banquet.

COUNTY WAR CONVENTION.

Great Woman Orator at Win-the-War Meeting Saturday.

No man or woman in Orleans county who can possibly go to Newport Saturday evening can afford to miss hearing Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale in her great war address which has moved audiences in Burlington, Bennington, Rutland, Brattleboro, St. Albans and other Vermont places as no other speaker has been able to do.

Mrs. Hale is a noted lecturer and author and has had a successful career on the stage, having played important parts with Sir Henry Irving and Ellen Terry.

She was born in New York City Sept. 11, 1883, daughter of Ian and Gertrude F. (Knight) Forbes-Robertson. She was educated at St. Leonard's School, St. Andrews, Scotland and Bedford College, University of London. Her marriage, to Swinburn Hale, lawyer of New York City,

Red Cross Information Service.

One of the Red Cross activities of growing importance is that of home service. In this department of its work the Red Cross seeks to ameliorate the condition of the home dependents of our enlisted men in all cases where advice or assistance of any kind is needed.

This work is not looked upon as charitable in any sense of the word, although it may incidentally supplement that of other home agencies intended to relieve want and distress on the part of those deprived of the aid and council of the "head of the family." Rather it is conceived of as a necessary adjunct of the Red Cross field work, in that it contributes vastly to the morale of the men, who can serve their country more wholeheartedly and effectively if they feel that it is well with their dependents at home.

Attention is particularly called to the fact that in connection with this home service an information service is being organized in the several counties of the state, to deal with the many more or less technical questions that may arise under the various federal laws and regulations relative to allotments, family allowances, war risk insurance, and the like. In order that the persons eligible under this legislation may enjoy the full benefit of its provisions it is essential under it, and the steps to be taken to avail themselves of its privileges. Thus a unique opportunity for patriotic service is afforded. This work is being undertaken by one or more lawyers in the several counties, whose gratuitous services will be at the disposal of soldiers and sailors and their dependents, who may need assistance in the various matters above referred to.

In this county Judge W. M. Wright of Barton and Lawyer H. A. Black of Newport have consented to act in the capacity indicated, and information may be sought by those entitled to it at their offices in Barton and Newport respectively.

The Red Cross desires to make this information service of the utmost possible value to the boys at the front and their dependents at home, and to that end the cooperation of the officers and members of all local branches, of the various exemption boards, and of patriotic citizens generally, is earnestly requested. Especially important is it that the men about to go to camp understand that they may secure advice as to the various matters suggested, and thereby take advantage of all the benefits provided by the government.

The Vermont Red Cross believes that this new activity, if undertaken in the truly patriotic spirit and consistently pursued and supported, will serve a most useful purpose. It gratefully acknowledges the loyalty of the attorneys in the various counties, who, at some personal sacrifice, have enlisted in this service as a matter of patriotic duty.

Boys' and Girls' Work.

Many boys and girls of the county are planting gardens this year, growing livestock, or doing other work. During the summer, especially, the girls will be canning and sewing. Plans are being made to hold an exhibit in each town in the county at which the boys and girls may exhibit any of their work—garden crops, livestock, canning, sewing, etc. Small prizes, such as blue, red and white ribbons will be given for 1st, 2d and 3d places. Immediately following the town exhibits, a county exposition will be held where boys and girls may exhibit their work and compete for cash prizes. The premium list for the county exhibit will be ready within a short time. Every boy and girl should plan to have something to exhibit both at his town exhibit and the county exposition.
